THE TOBACCO LEAF claims to be the first to speak of the farmer's movement in this county. Let the files of the Chronicle and Tobacco Leaf be examined, that the truth of history may be vindicated.

OUR young friend and townsman, Robert Hamilton, is acting as salesman in the boot and shoe house of Mr. V. L. Williams. The patrons of this house will find him polite and attentive to their wants. Call in and trade with him.

THE DEDICATION of the Baptist church takes place to-morrow, and from present indications a large concourse of persons will be present. Dr. Helm, of Louisville, is selected to deliver the dedication sermon.

ON account of the dedication services at the Baptist church to-morrow, there will be no services held at the M. E. church in the morning. Services will be held at night at the usual hour, at which time the doors of the church will be open for the reception of members.

WE learn from the Dover Record that Mr. Walter S. Neblett, of this city, and Mr. Bayless, of Stewart county, have erected a ware-house on the opposite side of the river from Dover, to do a forwarding and commission business. They will buy tobacco here. We wish these gentlemen great success.

ELDER S. P. STRATTON, father of the resident preacher, J. M. Stratton, will preach at the Christian church to-morrow morning and evening, and the services will be protracted through the week. All are invited to attend.

THE BUREAU TO-DAY.—The influence which pervade the municipal politics of the city, render it more difficult, year by year, for pure and respectable gentility to be nominated, or to accept nomination if desired. We shall not positively assume that such is the case here, but the indiscriminate scramble for city offices and the manner in which the canvass is conducted incline us to believe that the citizens must adopt some system by which the best man may be nominated and elected, or it will become the wiser course to surrender our charter. The heavy rate of taxation demands competent men for its collection and disbursement, and it is passing strange that those who pay the heaviest taxes seem to care least about the character of men who may be selected to apply the money for the best interests of the city. There are good men before the voters to-day, and it is the duty of each to select the best for the respective positions sought; but, considering the character of a large class of our voting population, fitness for office is no security for success—indeed the reverse is nearer the truth, unless watchful intelligence and integrity guard the ballot-box.

"HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY." This maxim is as true as it is old, but the true test of honesty is, as a general thing lost sight of in these degenerate times. The man who is unfortunate, whether from sickness or otherwise, and fails to meet his obligations, although he may have been prompt till then in property, is branded by his fellow-men as a dishonest man, and a majority of such judgments are pronounced upon many without reflection. Perhaps, if the accused man's surroundings and sore trials in battling with poverty were fully known, he would be found to possess an honesty of purpose and life that he has no ability to show to the world. Failing to pay and dishonesty are very different terms. The man who is unfortunate, who occupies a position in society on account of his wealth—who can meet every obligation as it comes up, is lauded to the skies as the honest man, who pays the last cent, and is incapable of doing a little more, but the position of these characters is changed, note the result, and the true test comes. Many persons, having the ability to pay to the utmost farthing, (which all rich or poor ought to do, if they can,) who if placed in the shoes of the unfortunate would do as he does, and often times far worse. Many men, possessing all the elements of the true gentleman, are forced, at times, from their surroundings, to do what the more fortunate class would call a little thing. Men are creatures of circumstances, all of us lacking in the great essential—CHARITY. There would be but little bickering and fault-finding, less back-biting and denunciation, if we fairly understood one another. Let all strive to be more charitable in their feeling towards their fellow-men, then all will be happier and the world move on better for "charity covereth a multitude of sins."

DR. L. B. CHILTON, resident physician of Woodlawn, Tenn., paid us a visit and a subscription one day this week. This reminds us of a statement made to us not long since, that of a number of deaths around Woodlawn, for the last two years, only one was under the age of 70. Where they have such a physician as Dr. Chilton, to die, they have to wear out, he is almost certain to cure his patients, if they have vitality enough left to work on. He recently sold his celebrated saddle horse, Gray Bob, for $25, to a gentleman in Stewart county. This amount will enable him to buy two common horses to carry him through his large and increasing practice.

QUICK WORK.—On the night of 24th ult., while the circus was showing in Lafayette, Ky., one of the canvas men stole a horse from a citizen named Thomas. Before 9 o'clock, the next morning, one of our city police, Mr. J. D. Jenkins, had the thief arrested when trying to sell the horse. Mr. Jenkins took the thief, with the horse, and delivered him to the proper authorities at the State Line. Evil doers had better give our police a wide berth.

THE DOVER RECORD, of the 29th ult., says a widow lady named Mary O'Gwin, near Little Spring Camp ground, in Houston county, was burnt to death not long since. It was supposed that fire was communicated to her cabin from her pipe, as she was an inveterate smoker, and having no one with her but two little children, she being an invalid, perished in the flames.

THE NASHVILLE BANNER, of the 27th ult., says: Miss Seigale fell dead at the depot at McKenzie yesterday. She had been talking just previously, and was in the liveliest mood. As she attempted to pass an article into a friend on the train, she suddenly fell upon the platform a corpse. Her body was brought to Dickson on the Nashville and Northwestern road, where she resided.

AT the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, recently in Baltimore, the color question came up and was promptly met, as follows:

This subject came up in four shapes, each delicately and ingeniously worded. One was from Wisconsin, proposing a repeal of the clause, which excludes "Indians and persons of mixed blood," another from the East, asking a modification so as to allow initiations of those half-white, half-native; then one from sundry officers of New Haven, Connecticut, the last from Australia, proposing to take off all restrictions in regard to who should be initiated; but all suffered defeat by a majority sufficient to indicate vote was in favor of the old rule. Henceforth, that American Odd Fellowship is to be composed of the white race, and that all proposals looking to anything else is time thrown away, and the agitation of which can only be productive of dissension and discord.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

We have been requested to state in detail the particular books recommended by the joint meeting of directors of the public schools of Shelby county. They are as follows:

Holmes' primer, elementary speller, first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth readers, and school speaker; Holmes' history of the United States, first lessons in grammar, Vesal's first lessons in numbers and his mental arithmetic and intermediate arithmetic, Carter's elements of history, Mearns' first lessons in geography, intermediate geography and manual geography.

THE VERY large tobacco house to be erected by Harrison & Shelby, on the corner of Second and Commerce streets has been commenced by Mr. T. H. Willis. This insures the early completion of a most substantial job.

WE were unavoidably prevented from attending the entertainment at the Look and Ladder boys Thursday night, but understand that they had a fair audience. As we go to press Friday morning, of course we cannot speak of that night's performance. We will endeavor to say a word or two in their behalf in our next issue.

REV. J. P. McFERRIN, the preacher in charge of the M. E. Church, in this city, the past conference year, left for the General Conference, last Sunday night. He is an earnest, Christian gentleman, and has endeavored himself to his membership for whom he has labored faithfully and zealously, and by his liberal views and Christian demeanor has secured the confidence and esteem of our entire community. The people who may be so fortunate as to have him as preacher for the next year may be proud of the appointment.

HARRISON, MASSIE & Co., have in store an extensive and varied stock of goods from a thrifty to the "biggest thing on wheels," a condensed enumeration of which may be found in their advertisement to-day. Mr. H. W. Parrish is selling goods in this house on commission, and the friends of the house should bear this in mind and give him a helping hand. There are other, numerous and capable clerks in the house, all anxious and willing to show and sell goods to customers.

WE are truly sorry to learn that the new tobacco barn of Capt. J. L. W. Power, with his crop he had housed, was destroyed by fire on Friday night, 26th inst. Loss, at any time, is heavy, but when it requires all the energy and time a man has to make a crop, it seems doubly hard.

WE learn from the Richmond Enquirer, that the Postmaster in Lynchburg, has been arrested for sending out campaign documents, yet the Washington papers have flatly denied any such use of office stamps.

FINANCES.—The financial outlook in the East is much better. Confidence is fast returning and it is believed that trade will be little affected by the panic gotten up by the stock gamblers. Business with our Banks, has not been in the least interrupted, and we notice no change from their usual course. Currency is accumulating in their vaults with an active trade in exchange. Checking on New York at par.

WE have before us, a sample of the tobacco crop of W. H. Mason (alias Bob) who resides in this vicinity. The sample is not entirely cured, but for richness of grain and beautiful brown color, it is the best specimen of Clarksville tobacco we have seen for a long time. If his entire crop is like it, he may expect a rich reward for his labor. The sample is shown us by Dr. W. A. Shelby, of the Gracy House.

REV. J. P. McFERRIN will preach at the Methodist church to-morrow (Sunday) night, at 7 1/2 o'clock. There will be no morning service that day. This will be the last service held in the church prior to the session of Conference, and the Financial Steward earnestly requests the members of the church and congregation, to return in that night, all outstanding envelopes, with as liberal contributions as they can, that all claims against the stewards for current expenses, may be fully liquidated. Those who cannot attend in person, will please send in their envelopes and contributions.

H. Pettus & Co. This is a most excellent firm, deserving of extensive patronage. See their advertisements in to-day's paper.

On Thursday, 15th inst., Polk G. Johnson, C. & M., will sell some valuable real estate—farms and city property—belonging to estate of the late G. H. Warfield. See advertisement for particulars.

MR. ROBERT Lusk, of Nashville, father of Mrs. James E. Bailey, of this city, died on the 29th ult., at the advanced age of 70. He was kind and affable, and his character above reproach.

On Saturday, 25th inst., P. O'neil, clerk, will set the tract of land belonging to the heirs of James Heathman, dec'd.

ACCORDING to former announcement, V. L. Williams is now receiving the largest stock of boots, shoes, hats, &c., &c., ever heretofore kept in Clarksville. These goods were bought from the manufacturers for cash, and as he is conducting his business upon strictly economical business principles, he will be enabled to sell them at such low prices as to successfully challenge all competition.

He is building up a good lucrative business by adhering closely to the principle of "quick sales and short profits." He would earnestly ask all to call and examine his stock and prices, before buying, as it will consume but a few minutes of your time, and he will take great pleasure in showing you through and then you decide the question—where shall I buy my Boots and Shoes? His store room is No. 23, Franklin street.
